General Comment

With the proven track record of the Federal Government's total ineptness in handleing social Security funds and somebody has the audacity to ask me what I think about entrusting my IRA to to the federal government? Never, never, never! Even if the Federal Government had been good stewards of Social Security, they have no business encroaching upon or "regulating" people's private financial affairs. Had I been irresponsible with my personal finances in the same manner as Congress has been with U.S. taxpayers dollars, all that I would have to show for in older age is deep debt ..... for my kids and grandkids to inherit! No, Uncle Sam, you are much too irresponsible to to be handleing your own finacnes much less anybody elce's finances. Not even China, Russia or India want to do business with the U.S. Why should I want to? I'll regulate my own financial affairs - thank you very much! Ron Peare
